NEO•GEO

THE REAL DEAL

The ultimate question for any megagamer... "what is the most advanced home system on the market?" I would like to settle this once and for all! Take a look at the facts...

Everyone seems to be talking about the new 32-bit processors and the 64-bit system. The 32-bit processor is not exactly new and the 64-bit system is yet to be seen. It has been said many times that to release a true blue 32-bit processor to a NTSC standard television (regular television) would be a waste of time and a waste of money. They would literally have to include a special monitor with all 32-bit and 64-bit systems (i.e. FM-Towns 32-bit system with VGA monitor). To show all of you who doubt SNK HOME ENTERTAINMENT, INC. and NEO•GEO, the single 32-bit processor would cost more than the NEO•GEO system. A processor can process information all day long but without the proper chips to assist it, it is not going to look any better than an 8-bit or 16-bit processor. The costs of making the system, the support chips, the design and cost of the circuit boards, plus a special monitor, is higher than the nations trade deficit!

CD-ROM is the "wave of the future." Although this technology may be something to get excited about, it has yet to be perfected for video game use. The access time or lag time is the downfall of the CD games.

Nintendo and Sega are both currently in the process of developing CD-ROM for their 16-bit systems. Nintendo will have two different CD-ROM systems and they won't even be compatible with one another. The Sega CD-ROM is planned for release sometime in the future. Even with the new 16-bit processor, the hardware design hampers the CD-

ROM. Sega enthusiasts boast the CD memory capabilities. WOW! INCREDIBLE! BIG DEAL?! It takes them close to a year to program a 4-megabit game. How long will it take them to program anything with memory that even resembles that of the NEO•GEO? Keep in mind that CD is capable of vast storage capacity and both Sega and Nintendo will only be utilizing approximately 20% of its full memory capability. It still doesn't compare to the NEO•GEO's 4,096 simultaneously displayed colors, 380 Sprites, and full-screen multi-layers. Anyone who knows CD-ROM knows that any access time (time it takes while loading) is like an eternity of waiting compared with NEO•GEO's zero access time. Unlike Sega and Nintendo, we don't make you buy add-ons to get quality games. They have come to the edge of their limit and to try and compete with NEO•GEO would mean buying yet another add-on!

65,536 colors, 4,096 simultaneously displayed at one time, 15 stereo sound tracks, 380 sprites and multi-layer screens that fill the entire screen. All this, instantaneous memory access, omni-directional scrolling and rotation, enlarging shrinking, fade and scaling! This entire 330 MEG package of power comes in one complete set and you will never have to buy add-ons or a monitor to compete with the other guys. For the record, "what is the most advanced video game system in the world?" NEO•GEO, a professional arcade system with the same hardware found in our No. 1 selling Multi-Video System is the only answer for any MEG gamer. A friend of mine once said, "NEO•GEO is bigger, badder, better," and I say, NEO•GEO is the Real Deal.

THE GAME LORD SPEAKS

To put it in words... to write it down... that is walking on hallowed ground, but it is my duty. I am the Game Lord and one of my specialties is to say things that cause havoc, debates, and arguments. In the last episode of TGLS, I made a statement about our memory capability and it has gotten blown way out of proportion! Michael Baldeon informed me that people on Wordnet and Prodigy were debating that issue, and I can honestly say that half of them didn't believe the Immortal Game Lord. It's really quite shocking, but it doesn't matter because NEO-GEO obviously has the best graphics and sound of all systems. Crossed Swords (50 MEGs) is visually one of the strongest games around.

Any computer artist or programmer can tell you we don't cut any corner when it comes down to it.

One question that many people ask me, "Will NEO-GEO come out with a Handheld?" SNK will not release a portable system like NEO-GEO Advanced Home Entertainment System. You see, when a video game company starts making handhelds, that means they have to split up the work force. Instead of having the whole Research and Development staff working just on their home system and developing more games for it, some of the programmers have to develop handheld software. When our competitors release an 8-bit system, 16-bit system, CD-ROM, and a handheld, and have to write software for each system, it could get ugly. This is not the style of NEO-GEO, therefore, we will not release a handheld. Our 12 third party companies and SNK's 300 programmers strong Research and Development staff will never worry about handhelds and can concentrate on the only professional video game system on Earth.

How many times do you hear Nintendo or Sega claiming arcade quality graphics? What happens when you buy their game and the graphics (the sound is even worse) are not even close to arcade games? Aren't you tired of it all? Finally, one system with everything you want from a video game system... the NEO-GEO is here. The only true professional arcade hardware and software. Sounds like it could be an advertisement, don't you think?

People think that Chad and I downplay the Sega and Nintendo, but don't get us wrong, we like Sega and Nintendo. See for yourselves, though, because when you want the best game system in the world, Quality is what you expect... and get from SNK, Home Entertainment, Inc.

HOT TIPS

THE MULTI-LINK FEATURE

One thing that the Handhelds have that most home video game systems lack is what we call the Multi-link feature. A feature first seen on computers and in arcades. The Multi-link is the ability to connect two or more complete NEO•GEO systems together. Both systems run parallel and each player is playing interactively in the game. NEO•GEO Multi-link cartridges have a port where the Multi-link cable is plugged into and instead of making you buy a special cable from SNK, you can use a

RIDING HERO

42 MEGs

NO MATTER HOW YOU ADD IT UP,

= TWICE THE FUN!

standard phono-jack to phono-jack connection cable for the Multi-link cable.

Multi-link will add new dimensions to gaming and bring a whole new meaning to the words, "2-player simultaneous game play." In the arcades, games like Cyberball 2072, Final Lap, Cadash, Steel Talons, and Chicago's battletech center have incorporated the Multi-link feature into their games. Cyberball 2072 shows how we can make a football game (vertical scrolling) that hides plays, always gives us a good perspective (I hate playing defense going down the screen), and is the best four player football game ever. The other games show that simulator racing, helicopter, Mechwarrior, and jet plane games can only be played (more than 1 player simultaneous) with a Multi-link action. Our Riding Hero (42 MEGs) is a great example of this. Although League Bowling's (28 MEGs) Multi-link is purely used for 4-player simultaneous play, at least everyone knows that we have that capability.

The NEO•GEO Advanced Home Entertainment System has 330 MEG capability, 380 sprites (16x512), and the processor speed of 12.5 megahertz. This means that because of our huge memory capacity, we will have Multi-link games with play fields as large as life. You can also be sure that because of our processor speed and number of sprites, our 4-player simultaneous games won't flicker and slow down as much as the other guys. All in all, with the power of the NEO•GEO and Multi-link capability, the future can only look bright for the only true professional video game system. NEO•GEO is the Real Deal.

CROSSED SWORDS

One thousand years ago, the evil of the man Nausizz devastated the land of Belcana, but fell into a deep, dark, sleep. During his timely slumber, the mage Katasis built a powerful kingdom by uniting several countries in the near vicinity.

Suddenly, a huge castle rose in the Krugia Mountain after only one night. Nausizz had awakened, and his appetite for evil was large. The valiant knights of Angster had no special skills with which to battle against the magical evil of Nausizz and his enthralled.

Eventually, two brave knights, Edmond and Richard stepped forward and set out to destroy Nausizz once and for all. These two heroes have special magic and attacks that match their pure intentions and good will. When Nausizz kidnaps the fair princess Clore, their hearts are filled with a rage that cannot be denied. Help them banish the evil in Belcana!

In the first area, you learn of the treacherous wrong-doings of the Nausizz armies.

Traveling in the forest, it is best to bring a friend! Dab Goblins are around every turn.

Journey to the Tower of Matius to thwart the demons flocking there. Your task becomes much harder now, but the rewards are great!

Many of your enemies reappear in stronger, faster, more intelligent versions. You will need to use all of your skills to survive.

Buy new weaponry from Raocster. The elusive Scarecrow sword holds a mystery.

Each new weapon has a better magical power and more attack strength. Some magics are defensive, while other are offense.

PUTTER RAT

This is the weakest enemy you'll face in the battlefield.

PUTTER RAT II

Putter Rat II is far more powerful than it's cousin.

DAB GOBRIN

Dab Goblins infest Belkana with their foul intentions.

DAB GOBRIN II

Dab Goblin II is a faster version of evil and chaos.

GREEN KNIGHT

The Green Knight is strong, but slow enough to spar with.

RED KNIGHT

The Red Knight is faster than his evil green cousin.

GREEN FLYER

He is a winged version of the Green Knight, and little faster.

RED FLYER

This flying knight is as strong as he is fast. Magic helps here.

DRAGON WORM

Use your Berserker Rage against this fiery demon.

RED WORM

The Red Worm has even worse breath than its brother.

DEMON GOAT

The Demon Goat cannot be hurt while he spins.

DRAGON FLY

The sting of the Dragon Fly is deadly. Block low.

FORCE OF LIFE*UP+A+B

The first special attack consists of mystical charging of your life force, which is then transferred into your weapon and released toward your opponent. Since this attack shoots at enemies in the background as well as in the foreground, it can provide a powerful ace in the hole against certain area bosses. This uses life points, unfortunately.

BERSERKER RAGE*A+B

The second special attack is certainly the most devastating! In certain cases, you can wipe out the entire life bar of your opponent! When you press A and B simultaneously, you will use your fierce training as a knight and slice your opponent to ribbons in a flurry of slash-attacks. This wears you out a little, but it can prove invaluable in battle.

SOUL BLAST*DOWN+A+B

The last special attack is a powerful burst of purity that comes straight from your soul. This flash of goodness weakens evil creatures, and in some cases, destroys them entirely. This special attack can be vital in close one-on-one encounters with the enemy. It will not damage far away enemies, but it will knock back even the strongest foe.

The Game Lord's
Pick of the Month!

FATAL FURY

In any sport or competitive event, being the best is the highest honor to achieve. But, the road to being the best can be "Fatal." Jeff Bogard was the reputed best in street fighting and was a threat to evil men like Geese Howard. To control Southtown, Geese kills Jeff and no one was left to oppose him. Ten years later, Jeff's sons, Terry and Andy Bogard set out to avenge their father's death. Howard's control has grown so big that the only way to get to Geese is to compete in the King of Fighters Tournament.

Choose between three characters on your way to Geese. Joe Higashi uses Taiboxing martial arts and is fast with his kick. Terry Bogard trained on the streets and developed his own street fighting style. Andy Bogard, younger brother of Terry, uses karate and has the easiest special attacks. Each character has more than 4 special moves each included with the standard kicking and punching attacks. Play against a friend or play 2 against the computer and fight each other.

Fatal Fury: King of Fighters is one-on-one competition fighting at its best. Superb graphics, fluid animation, and a NEO-GEO quality soundtrack make this the greatest home game ever! This game will definitely be talked about for years, and because of the two player competition, I don't think your friends will ever let you put this in the closet. Only games of this magnitude get dubbed, "The Game Lord's Pick of the Month!"
